Grant at Work.
The news from North Carolina is precisely what every body believed it would be. Immediately on reaching the theatre of operations, GRANT gave JOHNSTON notice that the absurd agreement entered into by SHERMAN would not stand, and gave him till six o'clock Thursday to surrender his army. JOHNSTON's reply fully disclosed the only point for which the rebels are striving. If DAVIS and the leading rebels were permitted to leave the country, the terms would be accepted. Of course GRANT would listen to nothing that did not relate to the single point of surrender or fight,—he would attach no conditions.

We may assume with entire safety that GRANT put WILSON and STONEMAN's cavalry in motion to head off DAVIS and the other fugitives, and to undo, so far as possible, the mischief SHERMAN had done.

The next intelligence from that quarter will be awaited with interest.

LATER.—A dispatch from the Secretary of War, announces the surrender of JOHNSTON's Army to SHERMAN, on the same terms that LEE surrendered to GRANT. Although nothing is said on that poin', it is presumed that everything will be done to cut off and secure DAVIS and the other fugitives.

Academy of Music.
The gentlemen having this enterprise in charge, and others willing to work, are requested to meet at P. R. MEREZ's office, Wood street, on Monday evening at 7½ o'clock.

The terrible event of the 14th inst., caused a suspension of operations in this matter, but they will now be resumed with energy. It is noped that all friends of the enterprise will attend.

MAYOR OF OIL CITY.—Dr. S. S. CHRISTY, of the firm of CHRISTY, TYLER & Co., has been unanimously elected Mayor of Oil City, having received the support of all parties. The Mayor elect is an enterprising, energetic citizen, and will make a most acceptable officer. That young and and thriving city requires just such a man as Dr. CHRISTY to watch over its municipal affairs.

The Tables Turned.
The time was—and not long ago—when Union men on the border were subject to every description of persecution. With such things kept in remembrance the following, related by the Wheeling Intelligencer, is refreshing: We learn that two men who had formerly resided near Fairmont, but who had left their homes and joined the rebel army, recently returned and kept themselves concealed. Yesterday a squad of the Home Guards in the neighborhood called on the mother of the parties and requested her to inform them of the facts in regard to their return, telling her that if they were not paroled they must take the oath. She assured them that they had not returned and she knew nothing of their movements. The premises were watched, and they were found concealed in the woods. On the approach of the guard they attempted to escape, when the guard fired on them, killing one and wounding the other.

OBITUARY.—Valentine Mott, M. D., L. L. D., died on Wednesday evening, at his residence, Gramercy Park, New York, in the eightieth year of his age. He was the most eminent surgeon in this country, and enjoyed much renown in Europe, he having challenged from the renowned Sir Astley Cooper the remarkable eulogy: "He has performed more of the great operations than any man living, or that ever did live." The death of Dr. Mott will mark an era in the history of his profession.

Mr. Charles Steinway, a member of the firm of Steinway Brothers, famous piano manufacturers, New York, died April 1st, at Brunswick, Germany, after an illness of twenty-four days, from typhoid fever. It is but a few weeks since another of the brothers died in New York.

SECRETARY SEWARD.—A Washington letter says:—"Some is little anxiety respecting Mr. Seward now. He will doubtless get well, but he will present a sad spectacle to his friends, his face is cut and gashed, and his broken jaw disfigures him. He has already begun to consider the business of the Department, and his recovery is so rapid that all thoughts of appointing some one to act temporarily in his place have been dismissed. If well, Mr. Seward will remain at the head of the State Department. It is well known that he was for years a warm personal friend of Mr. Johnson in the Senate.

The light monitor Nauset was successfully launched from the yard of Donald Kay, Esq., at East Boston, on Wednesday, with her turret and machinery on board.

REMINISCENCES OF MR. LINCOLN.

Mr. Carpenter's Personal Impressions.

Mr. F. B. Carpenter, the artist who painted the picture of "The Signing of the Emancipation Proclamation," contributes to this week's Independent his "Personal Impressions of Mr. Lincoln," embodying some interesting reminiscences which we copy below:

MR. LINCOLN'S SADNESS.

It has been the business of my life, as you know, to study the human face, and I say now, as I have said repeatedly to friends, Mr. Lincoln had the saddest face I ever painted! During some of the dark days of last Spring and Summer I saw him at times when his careworn, troubled appearance was enough to bring tears of sympathy into the eyes of his most violent enemies. I recall particularly one day, when, having occasion to pass through the main hall of the domestic apartments, I found him all alone, pacing up and down a narrow passage, his hands behind him, his head bent forward upon his breast, black rings under his eyes, showing sleepless nights—altogether such a picture of the effects of weighty cares and responsibilities as I never had seen. And yet no always had a kind word at utmost always a genial smile, and it was his way frequently to relieve himself at such times by some harmless pleasantry. I recollect an instance told me by one of the most radical members of the last Congress. It was during the darkest days of 1862. He called upon the President early one morning. Just after news of a disaster. It was a time of great anxiety if not despondency. Mr. Lincoln commenced telling some trifling incident—which the Congressman was in no mood to hear. He rose to his feet and said, "Mr. President, I did not come here this morning to hear stories; it is too serious a time." Instantly the smile disappeared from Mr. Lincoln's face, who exclaimed, "Sit down! I respect you as an earnest, sincere man. You cannot be more anxious than I am constantly, and I say to you now, that were it not for this occasional vent I should die!"

HIS SYMPATHY.

A large number of those whom he saw every day came with appeals to his feelings in reference to relatives and friends in confinement and under sentence of death. I was constantly amazed to me that, with all his other cares and duties, he could give so much time and be so accessible with his multitude. I have known him to sit for hours patiently listening to details of domestic troubles from poor people—drawing forth, by kindness, from every visitor the facts and manifesting as much anxiety to do exactly right as in matters of the greatest interest. Poorly clad people were more likely to get a good hearing than those who came in silks and velvets. No one was ever turned away from his door because of poverty. If he erred, it was sure to be on the side of mercy. It was one of his most painful tasks to confirm sentence of death. I recollect the case of a somewhat noted rebel prisoner, who had been condemned to death. I believe it was during Congress that the application had been made to have his sentence commuted. While this was pending he attempted to escape from confinement, and was shot by the sentinel on guard. Although he richly deserved death, Mr. Lincoln told Judge Holt in my presence that it was a good relief to him, for the pain took his life into his own hands."

If the slightest occasion existed for showing the goodness of his heart, it was in the case of Judge Bates, in the same conversation referred to above, and that he often told the President that "he was unduly sensitive to criticism, and the public power." "What," said the Judge, "he can scarcely turn away from the applications and troubles of his friends, and he has had tears of a woman are sufficient to overcome him."

A PARDON.

A touching instance of his kindness of heart occurred but little recently, and was told me accidentally by one of the servants. A poor woman from Philadelphia had been waiting, with a baby in her arms, for three days for to see the President. Her husband had furnished a substitute for the army, on some time afterwards were drafted, and, in a state of intoxication, got into some disturbance with his companions, and in this state induced to enlist. Soon after he reached the army he deserted, thinking that, as he had provided a substitute, he could return with impunity. He was arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced to be shot. The finding of the court was approved on Saturday. On Monday his wife left her home with her baby, to endeavor to see the President. She walked the streets and passed the night in three days, and there was no chance for her to get in. Late in the afternoon of the third day she succeeded in wearying through the back passages to his private room, to get a cup of tea or take some rest. This passage way may be easily entered unobserved, and the person, passing entirely out of view of the occupants of the anteroom. On this way through he heard a baby cry. He instantly went back to his office and rang the bell. "Daniel," said he, "is there a woman with a baby in the anteroom?" "Yes, sir." I said there was, and if he would allow me to say it, I thought it was a case that ought to see, for it was a matter of life and death. Said he, "send her to me at once." She went in, told her story, and the President pardoned her husband. As the woman came out from his presence, her eyes were lifted and her lips moving in prayer, the tears streaming down her cheeks. Said Daniel, "I went up to her and pulling her shawl said, 'Madame, it was the baby that did it!'"

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.

Another touching incident occurred, I believe the same week. A woman in a faded shawl and hood, somewhat advanced in life, at length was admitted to her turn, to the Presidential. Her husband and three sons, all she had in the world, enlisted. Her husband had been killed, and she had come to ask the President to release the oldest. Being satisfied of the truthfulness of her story, he said: "Certainly, if her proof was taken." As she was leaving, she said to me of her boys. He immediately wrote an order for the discharge of the young man. The poor woman thanked him very gratefully, and went away. On reaching the army she found that this son had been in a recent engagement, was wounded, and drawn to the hospital. She found the hospital, but the boy was dead, or died while she was there. The surgeon in charge made a memorandum of the order, and, almost broken hearted, the poor woman found her way again into his presence. He was much affected by her appearance and story, and said, "I know what you wish me to do now, and I shall do it without your asking. I shall release to you your second son." Upon this he took up his pen and commenced writing the order. While he was writing the poor woman stood by his side, the tears running down her face, and passed her hand softly over his head, stroking his rough hair. It was such a scene as a fond mother do to a son, by the time he had finished writing his own heart and eyes were full. He handed her the paper, saying, "said he, "you have one and I one of the other two left; that is no more than right." She took the paper, and as she

National Confidence.

The idea of the day is, how wonderfully our country, under the trials it has had to endure, has gained confidence in itself. Of them all, the last trial has had the grandest effect in moulding public sentiment and crystalizing it for action. Practically party distinctions have been rubbed out, and the whole people have been brought, as nearly as possible, to one frame of mind. No time during our national existence has there been so much national confidence,—not the inflation produced by success, but solid strength. Our muscles have been hardened, our sinews tested, our framework expanded, and we stand solid and strong because of the burdens we have borne. Our courage has been correspondingly developed. No other nation ever had such a schooling and did not break down. Our discipline has been of every conceivable kind,—successful, defeat, long suffering, assassination. But there is not a fo s mean in the boundaries of the Republic who does not feel that we bodily are stronger for each new infliction. This fact is not strange for ourselves alone. Foreign nations perceive it; if they do not admit it directly, they disguise it not from themselves.

Foreign Advices.

For some time to come advices from abroad will be looked for with peculiar interest. When the last steamer left, the full effect of the fall of Richmond had not been realized. The surrender of Lee was not known. The effect of the total smash up is yet to be known. Then will follow the astounding intelligence of the assassination, connected on British soil, by miscreants enjoying British protection as belligerents. Not the least important will be the effect of and reply to the proclamation relative to the late blockaded ports, when we may assume the proposition of a formidable controversial subject. In dwelling upon foreign questions, it is a subject for congratulation that our record is so clear and our position so strong. We are not only in the right, but we must have the sympathy of the Christian world; except, perhaps, the Anglo-rebels whose interests are so linked with the rebel cause that they must go down with it.

"Increasing Admiration."

General Lee concluded his farewell address to his beaten, captured army, with the following words: "With an ever-living admiration of your constancy and devotion to duty, and a grateful remembrance of your kind and generous consideration of myself, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

The Government owes it to itself to be at least humble this still recklessness. The language and bearing of Lee seem to have been studied with the view of manifesting, with as much distance of loyalty as possible, rebellion spirit. This is not how we conceive more emphatically that, the rebellion as a cause was not conquered. His "admiration" of army, and consequently of the rebel cause, declares to be "increasing" one. Those of his hatred for the Government and the Republic manifestly evolve to "increasing." This is the only logical interpretation. General Lee should have the full benefit of it. Verily his "admiration" for his army is "increasing," but for their "country," which means the so-called Confederacy of JEFF. DAVIS. Is it not plain that a rebel so stubborn, and one who takes the first occasion to insult the Government of which he is a prisoner, deserves to be severely dealt with?

TWIN CLASSES.—There are two kinds of people just now, so nearly alike that they cannot very well be disconnected. We mean rebel sympathisers, including those who went south to help the rebellion, but are now attempting to return, humbled and ready to take the oath of allegiance, and that part of the British public who did their utmost to assist the rebellion, but now that they have fallen profess friendship, and have nothing but kind words for our country. Our Government has taken the right course in regard to the cowed rebels, by virtually outlawing them. It may not be able to institute quite so practical a policy for the Anglo-rebels, but we honestly will, for some time to come, find a way to indicate that the two classes are regarded as twins, and equally undeserving of confidence.

GENERAL BUTLER.—It is understood that recent efforts to have General BUTLER assigned to some command have been unsuccessful. About the time of the President's assassination he tendered his resignation, but withdrew it, on hearing of that event. It may be assumed for a tolerable certainty that General GRANT does not favor calling General B. into active service; this being so, it is hardly probable he will receive a command under him. It is probable he will again tender his resignation before long, and, most likely, it will be accepted. The time is at hand when the list of officers will be thinned out, and the army reduced. Only the best will be retained.

BOSTON AND THE WEST.—The Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company, to furnish a daily connection between Boston, St. Louis and all points on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, for the transmission of freight, have put on the line from New Orleans twenty one first class river steamers, reducing the time nearly one-half, in going up and coming down the river, from what it was before the war. It is claimed that the charges, delays, vexatious and forfeitures attending the shipment by rail have rendered this change absolutely necessary. Boston has determined to make a grand effort for the trade of the West by this route.

A RELIAR.—The disowning of BOOTH will relieve from annoyance those persons who are so unfortunate as to resemble the assassin. It is curious to note how large this class is. Within the last few days numerous persons have been made of persons whose only fault was a fancied or real resemblance to the individual whose picture, as published for illness, all rival the ocsionally for exercising official vigilance. There is scarcely a city BOOTH has not been seen in since the assassination, and lamentable are the romances published of his movements a thousand miles distant from the theatre of his real operations.

FOREIGN MATTERS.—It will not be many days before the reader of Earl RUSSELL to the diplomatists by the United States, that the subject will not be re-considered as a finality to be passed, but be received at the State Department, as we may require serious attention. Sir FREMANTLE has also several matters which demand consideration by our Government, and among them is the withdrawal of the recognition of the "Confederate" by giving them a place in the programme of the funeral procession proposed at the War Department.

CONGRESS.—It is well that Congress is now in session, or, to be on right legislate this summer as there would be great reason to apprehend that we might be involved in a foreign war. In addition to our present embarrassments, the threat of secession, which was made during the last winter would be kindled into a flame, and we should be precipitated into a struggle with those who would be the most delighted at the North and at the South, by the destruction of the troops which have been fighting side by side, under one flag, against a common foe.

THE DRAFT.—General FRY is out with a new decree. He has sent an order to Rathbone, N. Y., requiring all drafted men in that district, who have been examined and rejected, to appear at the general rendezvous in Elmira, there to be re-examined. While the last draft was in progress, Rathbone was ordered to Elmira, those who were drafted in that district to report to him. Now, he is ordered to Elmira, those who were drafted in that district to report to him. Now, he is ordered to Elmira, those who were drafted in that district to report to him.

The expedition of a large number of cattle from Europe is expected to arrive in this country in the course of the next few months. The cattle are to be sent to the Western States, and will be sold at auction. The cattle are to be sent to the Western States, and will be sold at auction.

Should the President and Senator Foster Both Die, Who Would be President?

In case, at this time, of the death of both President Johnson and President Pierce, and before the meeting of Congress, it admits of grave doubt, to say the least of it, whether there would be any successor provided for the next session of that body. On this point Chancellor KENT, in his Commentaries, remarks:

"If the office should devolve on the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and a vacancy in Congress for which the last Speaker had been elected had expired, and before the next session of Congress it might be a question whether he could serve, and whether the Speaker of the House of Representatives is called on until he resigned the person intended."

The same contingency would at any time occur when the office of President, or Vice President, President pro tem. of the Senate, and of Speaker of the House should, while Congress was not in session, by any calamity be vacated at the same time. Under such a condition of the Government it is to be presumed that the members of the Cabinet would assume the authority to summon a meeting of the Senate which would provide for the emergency in the election of a presiding officer who would exercise the functions of President till under the law a Chief Magistrate could be elected by the people.

Thoughtful statesmen have often made this matter a subject of serious consideration. The extreme disinclination, so long and so generally felt prior to the rebellion, to meddle at all with the Constitution, prevented, however, any attempt to engraft upon it such a provision as would preclude all possibility of a failure of a legitimate succession.

General Intelligence.

The value of the estate left by the late President Lincoln is estimated at $25,000.

Gov. Curtin has issued a proclamation, in accordance with that of the President, fixing May 18th as a day of humiliation and prayer.

A meeting was held in Columbus, Tuesday, to perfect an organization for the erection of a statue to the late President in that city. It was determined that the monument should be in honor of Mr. Lincoln and of the fallen Ohio soldiers. The leading State officials were chosen as the chief managers of the enterprise, and the sum of $50,000 was subscribed on the spot.

The opening of the Suez Canal to navigation throughout its entire length, from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean, has been officially announced to all the Chambers of Commerce in Europe by M. Lesseps, President and Superintendent.

The Whipple File Company, of Boston, Mass., at Ballard Vale, Massachusetts, employ 600 males and boys and 25 girls, and turn out 700 files per week. The proprietors of the "Vale" are also engaged in the manufacture of the "Vale" files.

One steamer brought into Sandusky (twenty-two miles) on Sunday, 1,800 persons in a single trip.

An appeal is soon to be made to the Italians in this country to aid in contributing funds for the statue to be erected at Ravenna to the wife of Garibaldi, who died in the swamps on the Adriatic coast, preferring to share dinner with the soldiers rather than to go luxury and comfort.

M. Donald, who is charged with sitting on the coroner for the purpose of making a raid on the lake frontier of the United States, has been brought before the Toronto Police Court, answering on this charge, and the case was further remanded. The sitting Magistrate has recently imposed, by law, on the prisoner, a fine of one hundred pounds sterling, and in default of payment of which he is to be imprisoned for the term of six months.

The residents of Vancouver's Island and British Columbia received the news of President Lincoln's assassination with every demonstration of regret, and united with the Americans in the observance of his obsequies on the 19th inst.

General Garfield says:—A year ago, when there were reports of a contemplated raid to murder President Lincoln, he said to friends: "Well, even if true, I do not see why the bells would again be either ringing or tolling in consequence of me. I am not a single man who is indispensable to the country." And I see but little difference in the progress of events. Everything would go right on just the same."

In Sheldon, Vermont, on the 15th instant, the store of Donally was broken open and robbed of $1,000 in money, and a number of valuable articles. The burglars succeeded in getting away with their booty, and as yet no clue to the perpetrators of the robbery has been discovered.

The Sandusky Register says: It is perhaps generally known that large quantities of cedar wood is annually cut on the islands adjacent to this city, and sent to Europe for the manufacture of pencils. At this season of the year thirty dollars per cord will not more than bring it down at least as much as it is worth.

A few days ago, Vermont, on the 15th instant, the store of Donally was broken open and robbed of $1,000 in money, and a number of valuable articles. The burglars succeeded in getting away with their booty, and as yet no clue to the perpetrators of the robbery has been discovered.

The remarkable thing about Governor Bramlette, of Kentucky, in speaking of Mr. Lincoln, is that in public he was essentially and always for Henry Clay Whig. His anti-slavery measures were but the natural sequelæ of the ideas and principles of that great statesman.

Mr. Clay's death has also left a void in the Senate, which will not be filled for years. It is a significant sign of the times that they should be regarded as such in Kentucky.

Abraham Lincoln's grandfather, also named Abraham Lincoln, was murdered by an Indian in 1774, while at work on his farm, near the Kentucky river. He left three sons, the eldest of whom, Thomas, was the father of the President. Thomas married in 1806 Nancy Hanks, a native of Virginia, and moved to Kentucky, where the President was born, February 12, 1809. In 1816 the family removed to Indiana, and settled in the forest, then full of wild beasts and Indians. Here Thomas Lincoln died, and was buried by the side of his wife, who died in 1818. In 1830 the family removed to Illinois, settling first in Macon county, then in Coles county, and finally in Sangamon county, where they remained until 1837, when Abraham, the President, went to Springfield, the present capital of the State, and commenced the practice of law.

The price of hay is experiencing a heavy decline in the Philadelphia market, owing to the return of the Army of the Potomac to peaceful pursuits, and the splendid prospects of the growing crop. Some speculators who were operating for a rise, and buying up all they could get at $30 a ton six weeks since, are reported to be badly bitten.

It is pretty evident that Lee, Beauregard and Hardee have little regard for their wives. Each of these gentlemen had proclaimed in speeches throughout the press that no lady would be safe in the South in the possession of the "Yankees." Yet Beauregard left his wife in New Orleans when Butler took possession of the city; Hardee left his wife in Savannah under the same circumstances, and Lee follows suit.

At the last term of the U. S. Circuit Court, held in St. Louis, Wyman Parker was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary, for passing counterfeit greenbacks. Much sympathy was felt in the case for Parker and his family, as it was supposed he acted in the belief that he was passing genuine money. Application was made to President Johnson sent on a pardon for Parker, and he will be released. This was the first case that came before the President's notice.

It is a subject of remark that Richmond never was more quiet and orderly than it has been since its occupation by Union troops. The ladies comport in strength such evening of darkness may be children in hand or very little, in the Hotel, and the officers of the national institutions, in the afternoons, in Capitol Square, affording promiscuous evening.

Is alluding to the fact that Governor Curtin is to confer the rebellion of the 4-pounds McClellan, Gilmore and others for the purpose of raising money on charges of mutilation and robbery, the Reminder says: "A resolution willing to confer the rebellion of Johnson and McCulloch, a gallant soldier, personal and deserves both of the country, and Capitol Square, affording promiscuous evening. CITY MATTERS.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ALLEGHENY CITY.—Our sister city of Allegheny is fast becoming one of the handsomest cities in the Union. Within the past few years a large number of splendid residences have been erected upon its streets and avenues, which, for architectural beauty and convenience, cannot be excelled in the State. The new stone mansion on Western Avenue, (adjoining the residences of Messrs. Avenue, (adjoining the residences of Messrs. John F. Logan and Joseph Forsyth,) which is now in course of erection by Mr. Byron H. Painter, will be, when completed, one of the finest and most elegant residences in the neighborhood. Mr. B. Dos, an ornament to the city. Mr. Dos, a well known oil merchant, has contracted for the erection of a dwelling on the West Common, which will probably cost $40,000. The foundations of the house has already been laid, and the building will be pushed forward rapidly to completion. The Bagley property, at the corner of Western Avenue and Bidwell street, which has been occupied for the past ten years by Hon. Thomas Williams, has been purchased by Mr. Joshua Rhodes, of this city, who is making extensive improvements to the building and grounds. It is Mr. Rhodes' intention to remove to his new purchase when the improvements are completed, which will probably be about the 1st of September next. The Blair mansion, adjoining, has been disposed of by the heirs of the estate to Joseph. J. B. Chew, of this city, who intends occupying it as a residence, after some alterations and improvements which have been commenced are completed. Hon. Thomas Williams has purchased the house on Stockton avenue, formerly owned by Mr. Ferguson, into which he will soon move. It is understood that the price paid was $17,000.

A large number of buildings will be erected in Allegheny this season, notwithstanding the high prices of labor and material, many of which will be an ornament to the city. The congregation of the Beaver street M. E. church are erecting a new church edifice on the north-east corner of Beaver street and the North Common, but it does not appear to be progressing very fast.

The First Disciples Congregation, at present worshipping in Excelsior Hall, have purchased a lot situate on the south west corner of Beaver street and North Common, and will commence immediately the erection of a large and handsome church building. The building will be of the Gothic style of architecture, will seat eight hundred persons, and will cost about forty thousand dollars.

PRESBYTERY OF WASHINGTON.—On Wednesday, the Presbytery of St. Clairsville met with that of Washington, in session at Wheeling, and quite an interesting time was had. Rev. Dr. Wilson, of the Western Theological Seminary, participating. A committee appointed for the purpose reported a minute in relation to the death of the President, setting forth the grief felt by the Presbytery at the nation's loss; thanking God for the gift of such a man as President Lincoln; recognizing the hand of God who permitted this great calamity to come upon us for our chastisement; praising the endurance, valor and achievements of our army and navy; specially thanking God that he has crowned our hopes of a just and honorable peace, and that he has made the rebellion the occasion and the instrument of breaking every yoke and letting the oppressed go free; pledging their support to President Johnson, and that the 25th of May, in accordance with the President's proclamation, be observed by appropriate services to be held in all the churches.

Presbytery then elected the following commissioners to the next General Assembly, which meets in this city:—Ministers—Rev. Wm. J. Alexander and Rev. David Hervey. Elders—Samuel McLean and S. N. Orr. Alternates—Drs. S. J. Wilson and D. A. Kagi. Elders—Jos. Scott and Wm. Armstrong. After hearing the reports of the churches, Messrs. Joan M. Mealy and John T. Oxley, candidates for the Gospel ministry, were examined on their collegiate studies, which examination was sustained. Presbytery determined to hold its next meeting on the first Tuesday of November, at Cross Creek, Pa., at 11 o'clock, a. m.

COMPLIMENT TO A PITTSBURGH STEAMBOATMAN.—The St. Louis Democrat thus compliments a well-known Pittsburgh steamboatman:—"Captain Richard C. Gray, formerly commander of the Hawkeye State, in the St. Louis Northern Line, is passing his time leisurely and pleasantly in Pittsburgh. His propensity for executing practical jokes is said to be unabated. The boatman is widely known, and his success of late in business operations, we are glad to know, have been as great as ever before, if not more so. Captain Gray's enviable competency includes a large amount of steamboat stock, among which we may name one-half each of the fine low-basin Hoover and Little Giant, and interests in the New Orleans packet Commonwealth, the Pilgrim, J. S. Hall, and the Centralia. Dick, as his friends familiarly call him, is a fair example of the industrious, persevering and good natured men of Pittsburgh. His entrance upon the stage of his active life as second clerk of a steamboat, a fact which I want some of our young friends to ponder over."

"DR. JACKSON."—This somewhat erratic individual, who went through the Mexican campaign with Capt. Jas. Morrow, of the Duquesne Greys, with Col. Rowley, in the three months' service, and afterwards went with Capt. Sohl for three years, and was captured at Winchester, carried to Richmond and imprisoned in Libby Prison for about nineteen months, has been liberated and is once more among his old friends in this city. It is understood that the Doctor will, at the earliest practicable moment, deliver one or more lectures upon the treatment of Union soldiers (white and colored) by the Confederate authorities. The Doctor—being a colored man—is a genius in his way, and if his lecture is properly engineered by his friends, will be an immense success.

RECKLESS USE OF FIRE ARMS.—On Thursday night a young lad named Eugene Dougherty, residing on the corner of Webster and Bim streets, was accidently shot by a colored man and severely injured. Young Dougherty was standing on the pavement near his father's residence, when the colored man who was passing fired at a dog, but the ball missed the dog and entered the lad's thigh, inflicting what were wound. The colored man during the excitement which followed the firing, managed to slip away before he was recognized, the ball has not yet been extracted.

SEIZURES OF MORE SARSPERILS.—U. S. District Attorney Carnahan has filed libels in the U. S. District Court against three brewing establishments in this district, for making fraudulent returns of their sales. The owners of the breweries are Adam Baurilles, of the Fifth ward, Jean H. Miller, Penn township, and John N. Shaffer, of Birmingham. The libels will be heard to-day in the U. S. District Court.

CITY MORTALITY.—Dr. George L. McCook, Physician to the Board of Health, reports the following deaths from April 15th to April 22d: Softening of back part of head, 1; Consumption, 2; Ascitis, 1; Marasmeus, 1; Still Born, 1; Subacute Encephalitis, 1; Convulsions, 3; Inflammation of Lungs, 1; Accident, 1; Congestion of Brain, 1. Male, 7; females, 6—total, 13.

ACCIDENT.—A youth named Boyd, a son of Francis Boyd, of Manchester, was killed Thursday by the "sweeping in" of a bank of sand in which the little fellow was digging holes. He was a bright lad, and his sudden death is a source of great grief to his parents.

Story of a Shepherd Dog.

A writer in the Prairie Farmer, over the signature of "Wool Grower," tells a long and marvelous story about his shepherd dog, from which we make the following extracts:

"I will add a short account of what I used to do with my dog 'Colonel,' which, I fear, those who have never seen a well broken dog work will be apt to class among the dog stories.

"When 'Colonel' was six months old I drove him with a flock of sheep from Ohio to Illinois, spending forty-seven days on the road. He had never been backed a flock of sheep until the day I started. In four weeks time I could send him into a one hundred acre pasture, and he would make a circuit of it and bring the flock out without leaving a sheep, and without hurrying them out of a walk. By the way, it is very important to break a dog to go slow—the most of dogs are too eager, and harry sheep too much.

I ferried the Wabash river at Attica. The boat ran upon a low, level bar, where there were no yards or fences to assist in getting the sheep aboard. With two hands and the dog I headed the boat without having to catch one of them, and the flock made five boat loads. I got upon the bank where the dog could see me well, and then by motions, made him jam the flock down tight to the boat, and when I jammed up, mount on their backs, and by barking and nipping—not severe enough to call it biting—shoved them right in. Any man without a dog could have loaded them so soon, if they could have done it at all.

"When I had occasion to drive 50 to 60 or even ten hundred sheep a few miles, I wanted no other help but the dogs. I have driven that many sheep along the road six or eight miles, where it was unfenced, sometimes on one side and sometimes on the other, and sometimes on both sides, myself riding ahead of the flock. The dog behind the sheep to strung through the timber, that perhaps I did not see the dog for an hour at a time.

"When the flock got to spreading out fan-shaped, and a flock will where there is a chance to pick, 'Colonel' would go on and turn in the corners, passing on just far enough to effect that purpose, and no further. He used, apparently, as much judgment in passing up the side of the flock just so far as would a man. When he was in doubt about an order, he would stop and look back until the order was repeated.

"I have many a day driven all over the prairie and taken a flock in every direction, by walking on before, leaving him to bring the sheep after me. I never had to say a word to him. I could send him two miles out into the prairie, at or a mile and a half to the right or left for half a mile, and he would collect and drive them up to me. I have sewed other dogs which would do the same, but none but him that did not rush the sheep too hard.

"I could send Colonel over a fence on ahead of a quarter of a mile, to stand in a cross lane to prevent the sheep from turning out of the road. I have herded a thousand sheep with him for weeks on pieces of grass, surrounded by other crops. When herding on a piece to grass bounded by other crops, I would watch one side and let him guard the remaining sides. His manner was to steal quietly along the edge of the corn wherever he saw the sheep approaching too near, and show himself merely sufficient to make them turn their heads in another direction, yet not enough to frighten them over to the other side of the field."

☞ FOR NEARLY A QUARTER OF a century Matthews' Venetian Hair Dye has been extensively used, and in no case has it failed to give entire satisfaction.

The VENETIAN DYE is the best and cheapest in the world. The price is only Fifty cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye in those usually sold for that price.

THIS HAIR DYE is manufactured by a peculiar process which renders it immeasurably superior to anything heretofore in use. One or two applications is sufficient, being complete in one bottle, no preparation is required, which greatly simplifies the application.

IN USING THIS DYE, you avoid that dusty, dirty appearance by which dyed hair and whiskers are so readily recognized, when an inferior article has been used; besides, it produces a perfectly natural color of any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock or wash out—one that is as permanent as the hair itself. FRIDAY, April 28—P. M.

Gold is declining slightly again, but hovering around 150, and will not probably get far away from these figures. Petroleum is stiffening, and considerable sums of money are being invested in it on speculation. The foreign demand is increasing, and prices advance steadily. Oil Stocks partake of the same feeling, and the good producing companies are evidently beginning to be appreciated by parties seeking investments. Some of our local stocks have advanced considerably under news of strikes and good prospects, and a decided advance occurred in one of the New York companies yesterday.

The improved attendance on 'Change and more spirited bidding show that the idea is gaining ground that the bottom has been reached, and that at least no further depreciation of good stocks will occur.

Much knowledge has been obtained in regard to the situation and prospects of the various Companies, which holders formerly had no time or inclination to seek for. What cared they about going into particulars so long as they could sell at an advance? But when compelled to hold, or sell at a loss, they naturally seek for the causes of the shrinkage in the value of the stock. In the general decline it was easy to avail themselves of the information obtained, at little or no sacrifice, by selling out one and buying into another whose prospects and management were better. The industrious inquirer has placed himself in a position to retrieve his losses.

Petroleum stocks will continue to be dealt in, and will gradually come to be considered as regular securities. The fact that the large portion of them are and will ever continue worthless, will prevent them, as a class, from ever ranking as a first class security; but the large dividends paid by the good ones, and the rapid advance in their value, as compared with a year ago, will render them attractive, and serve to fill the craving for speculation so common to our natures.

The attendance at the People's Stock Exchange, this evening, clearly evinced a revival of business on 'Change. As will be seen by the list of transactions, prices in some stocks have greatly improved. Cherry Run Central was picked up sharply at $2. The great bulk of the stock of this company is held by a few individuals, who have always regarded it as a good investment, and one that would improve with age. They are now about to realize their long cherished expectations. The following sales were made this evening:

—Stocks, it will be observed, have cut loose from gold, and are now governed entirely by the supply of money. The latter must continue large for some time to come. While the Government is in the market as a borrower, it cannot contract the currency. Meantime, National Banks go on steadily expanding. Unless these issues are checked, we are fairly in a new period of inflation and speculative activity, with no disposition to be apprehended from military operations.

—There is considerable activity in petroleum stocks in New York, although very little is doing towards the formation of new companies. The Herald says there has been some attempts in "corners" in the United States lately, and "short" sales are made as freely as on the Stock Exchange. The low prices of petroleum stocks presents facilities for speculation which high priced refined sugar does not, and hence speculators of small means are disposed to court fortune in oil. The goddess is fickle ever, as fickle as these as elsewhere, and many have found out to their cost that low prices do not always imply good bargains. I is questioned that petroleum stocks will be called hereafter the evening exchange.

New York Dry Goods Market.

The business of the week has been much curtailed by the unfortunate news received Sunday last. Since our last report only two days of active business have happened, viz., on Friday and Saturday last. Considerable sales were made on these days the demand has improved, the late period of the season imparting purchasers activity, the reduced stocks of goods, enabling more firmness in regard to the tendency in the market. Cotton prints have advanced a little, and have sold freely. Stocks are being cleared out of first hands. Printing cloths are scarce. An active demand has prevailed for brown sheetings, while ginghams and shirting's are higher, with a better inquiry. In woolen goods there is a revival of demand. Delaines are very steady with an active consumption. Fancy cassimeres are in better request, though prices are unsettled, except for the most desirable styles. In foreign fabrics there has arisen a lively movement. Desirable styles of British and Continental goods are in active demand at good prices. The market is bare of the most desirable kinds. French alpacas are very active, both black and colored. Silk ribbons now command improved prices. Woolens are not so active as ladies' dress goods, but are nevertheless, steady and improving, both in price and activity. Ashton's velvet ribbons realized good prices, with a demand that absorbed duplicates and samples. The remainder of the spring season fails to show a great improvement on its commencement. The back wareroom of dealers has only lead to a postponement of consummation. Prices have assumed steadiness and consistency, and will no longer any expectation of further fall in the present season. Buyers will come forward and supply all actual wants. Business transactions of such accounts on a moderate scale, may be expected in the summer months as a much lower point.—Independent.

PITTSBURGH GENERAL MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, } Saturday, April 29, 1865. }

Business—A slight improvement was perceptible in commercial circles. There was a larger inquiry for most of the leading articles. Prices, however, remain unchanged. The weather was changeable, in the afternoon and evening we had rain. The Allegheny river is becoming too low for navigable purposes. A few feet of water in that stream would help matters very materially. On the Monongahela wharf business was pretty active. The Pilgrim from Zanesville, discharged a heavy cargo of miscellaneous freight. The Alex Speer was busily engaged all day receiving for the Muskingum river. She departs this day at 4 p. m. for Zanesville. The punctual steamer Golden Era leaves for Portsmouth and intermediate ports at 12 m. positively. Persons doing business with this boat must bear in mind that she leaves on time. The Cincinnati packet for this day is the steamer Leonora No. 2. The No. 1 steamer Minnesota is loading for Cairo, St. Louis and St. Paul. She will have dispatch. The steamer Iron City left yesterday for the Parkersburg oil region She had a good trip. We have now a daily line to Parkersburg, composed of the steamers Bayard, Minerva, and Iron City. The new steamer Lorena is waiting her turn, she will commence loading for Louisville on Monday, and leave on Tuesday evening. The Silver Cloud No. 2 is at the landing, she will load for St. Louis. The steamer Hard Times is undergoing extensive alterations and improvements, and when finished she will be a real beauty. There is a large fleet of tow boats at the landing, waiting a rise of water. From present appearances they will not have to wait long. Below will be found the sales that came under our notice.

Apples—The reason seems to be over, the only descriptions offered being of an inferior kind. A few lots of mixed were disposed of at $2@2 50 per bbl.

Ashes—The market was inactive, and we note sales of 3 tons pearl at 10c, a decline.

Lead—Prices have further declined. Sales of 50 kegs Galena at 10 cents per lb.

Corn—The market seems dull. The demand being very limited, it is difficult to fix a figure for a good round lot. We note sales of 500 bush ear corn; 400 do shelled at 93c; 1000 bush do, terms withheld.

Oats—The market was dull and inactive, the demand being local. The supply on hand is large. Sales 4 car loads and 300 bushels at 65c. From store the usual advance is obtained.

Flour—No change was perceptible in this article. There was a larger inquiry but prices were nominally the same. We notice a fair amount of receipts by the river principally consigned to the east. The sales in this market were small; holders however seem to think that prices have touched bottom. Sales of 200 bbls Extra Family by the dray load, at $8 25, $8 50@9 00@9 25, the latter figure for choice brands.

Provisions—The market contains an ample supply of the various descriptions. Sales 250 lbs Sugar cured Hams at 20½c.

Bacon—Is in steady demand; all good and ready purchasers at fair prices. Sales were 18 packages choice at 17c, and 5 do at various prices.

Feathers—Were not plenty; holders were asking 75c.

Hay—Market steady; sales 50 bbls at $2 25.

Cheese—Was in fair demand; sales of 50 bxs, at 22c.

Fish—Was more fancied; sales of 10 half bb's trout, at $9; sales of 15 do white fish, at $10 50; 30 do No. 1 herring, at $9 50; other descriptions were unchanged.

Whisky—The demand is improving, buyers being more inclined to purchase; prices were somewhat higher; shoulders, 10½@11c; sides, 12½@13c; hams, 14 hams, 15c.

Hay—The market was inactive; no sales were reported at the scales; sales of 30 tons of baled, at $1 75@2 00.

Groceries—The market was steady, with a fair demand; as prices were unchanged we omit sales.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE

OFFICE OF THE DAILY COMMERCIAL, } Saturday, April 29, 1865. }

The Crude Oil market was firm but not very active, and holders were disposed to ask a further advance, in fact certain dealers withdrew their stocks for larger prices, while on the other hand buyers were disposed to wait and see what might turn up; hence the sales reported did not exceed one thousand five hundred barrels. The largest inquiry was for bulk oils and low gravity. The water is becoming low to Oil City. We learn that some of our boats are aground near Oil City. The prospect of a rise is certainly flattering. The receipts of oil since our last reach two thousand seven hundred and nineteen barrels. The arrivals were the Lochlr No. 2, Uralda and Echo No. 2. The only departure was the Petrolia No. 2. The general opinion on the landing was that she would not be able to reach Oil City. From the west and the mouth of the creek prices are reported to have further advanced. The week's sales of Crude Oil were probably the largest that we have ever reported in the same length of time. It will take some days to enable us to settle up the business of the week. Until this is accomplished we do not look for any heavy transactions. The rates were: Lochlr No. 2, Uralda and Echo No. 2, 22@22½c, packages returned; 26, 26½ and 27c, packages included. Two parcels of heavy oil, 32 gravity, sold at good round prices for certain purpose. This description of oil is much fancied. There was more inquiry for refined oils, particularly free. Prices were the same as for some days. The market contains a fair supply. Naptha and Residuum were in moderate demand at previous prices.

Crude Oils—The sales since our last reach 1,500 bbls, in lots, of which the following are specified: Sales of 340 bbls at 22c, package included; 245 do at 23c, same conditions; 200 do at 26c, packages included; 300 do of bulk, low gravity, at 28c; we have now to record the sale of two parcels of a real genuine article. Sales of 100 bbls, heavy oil, 32 gravity, at 38c, packages returned; 143 bbls do, 32 gravity, at 38c, packages included.

Refined Oils—The sales were to a moderate extent at. Bonded 45@46c; Free 65@66c. Sales of 1,000 bbls, Bonded, for next week's delivery, at 45c, and for present delivery refiners were asking 46c.

Oil City Oil Report.

April 27.

The business has been brisk since last report. Prices have fluctuated, the uncertainty about the action has suffered in the loss of President Lincoln, had a depressing effect for a few days. But the prompt manner in which President Johnson has assumed the duties of his office, has restored confidence, and every branch of business here is feeling better. We give all the leading rates for Oil and the wells, prices firm and demand good. No new wells to report. The wet, on the Sheeley farm, noticed last week, has been reported to have been twenty barrels per day. A good show has also been had in another well immediately adjacent. The Stenger's have made regular trips during the week. Carrie Jones is in the river channel and sailing. Creek in good towing order. Freights—river—on creek, 75c ⅌ bbl. To Pittsburgh 65 cts. Barrels. Market closes firm. Weather pleasant.—Register.

Pittsburgh Pig Iron and Bloom Market.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, } Saturday, April 29, 1865. }

Business was dull in all its various departments. Prices have further declined. The sales reported this week were the lowest prices we have noted for a long time. The fact is, on a downward market sellers are not disposed to furnish transactions, and as they have the matter in their own hands, we cannot help ourselves. The only sales that came under our notice were: The receipts per Golden Era were 150 tons.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Finance and Trade

NEW YORK, April 28.

Special to Western Associated Press.

At the Stock Exchange there was a steady effort made to break the railroad list, and I was quite successful. The market was heavy throughout, and under a continued pressure b sell there was a heavy decline. After Board session was over there was an improved movement in prices, but the market did not reach the figures of yesterday, and a fall was the result of combination on the part of the bears. Government stocks partially sympathize with the decline on other stocks. There is a strong feeling of investers in favor of this class of securities and no disposition to sell at present prices. State stocks and railroad bonds were steady. Bank stocks active. Miscellaneous and coal shares were generally steady. At last board there was a panicky feeling with heavy decline in the price of gold; market heavy and dull on account of the surrender of Johnston. The Wall street men appear to consider speculation on military news about ended. Operations today were very small. Money abundant with very little demand. Petroleum stocks dull and lower. Sales of Buchanan Farm at 115; Cherry Run, 68; Commonwealth, 85@; Empire City, 29@; Excelsior, 49@; Germania, 65; United States, 37½; Knickerbocker, 59; Manhattan, 51; Ocean, 25@; Tack, 170.
